

Maharana Pratap College of Pharmacy (MPCP)

Kanpur, Uttar Pradesh, India

About the Site

Maharana Pratap College of Pharmacy (MPCP) is a premier pharmacy institution within the Maharana Pratap Group of Institutions, offering a dynamic educational environment focused on pharmaceutical sciences, clinical pharmacy, research, and innovation. Located in Kanpur, one of India's major educational and industrial centers, MPCP provides students with opportunities to experience pharmacy education and healthcare delivery within a rapidly evolving healthcare system.

Students benefit from access to modern laboratories, academic resources, and a collaborative learning environment that promotes professional growth and interdisciplinary engagement. The site's proximity to renowned institutions such as the L.P.S. Institute of Cardiology & Cardiac Surgery and the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Kanpur further enriches the learning experience.

Student Experience

Students participate in clinical discussions, medication-use evaluations, pharmacovigilance activities, pharmaceutical care planning, prescription assessment, and patient safety initiatives. Subject to institutional approval, observational experiences within specialized cardiac care settings may provide insight into cardiovascular pharmacotherapy and multidisciplinary patient management.

Highlights

- Clinical pharmacy and pharmaceutical sciences exposure
- Cardiovascular care observation opportunities
- Research and innovation-focused environment
- Comparative learning between Indian and U.S. pharmacy practice
- Interdisciplinary academic collaborations